Letter from Craig

It is finally cooling off now that it's September here in Texas, and starting to feel like fall for sure. We continue to keep our friends and family in South Texas in our thoughts and prayers as they cope with the aftermath of Hurricane Harvey. We have not been affected by the flooding here, but are thankful for the rain we have had recently and the cool weather it has brought with it.

Here at the ranch we are gearing up for a busy season, preparing for fall clinics, cleaning cabins, mowing pastures, trimming trees, and much more.

Fall is our favorite time and the cooler weather makes riding more enjoyable which often makes for longer days in the saddle. We have been on the road to Pennsylvania, New York, and Tennessee, where we have been working and teaching many wonderful folks. I would love to thank Kimber and Sam at the Circle G for their wonderful hospitality and phenomenal facility. We are already making plans to return in 2018.

September will be very busy as we head to a clinic in Washington state! After that, we prepare for the big Western Horseman Weekend with Craig Cameron at the Double Horn Ranch. Then, we are off to New Zealand for Equidays.

I am sure you all are as busy as us. Stay consistent with your horses, and make the effort to ride better each and every day.

Your Friend,

Craig Cameron

Q & A with Craig and Cole

Question:

How do I tell if my farrier is good? My horses never limp, but is that good enough?

Answer:

Finding a good farrier is very important. I don't let just anybody shoe my horses. Not necessarily the guy that's the cheapest, the guy that's most available, or the one that's just out of farrier school. I look for the farrier that is experienced, and with a genuinely good reputation. I want him to get to know my horses, what they need, take his time, and put individual and personal effort into shoeing each horse, as if it were his own. A poor shoeing can cause lots of problems and even cripple your horse. Take your time, ask around and find that farrier that's going to do a consistently good job. And don't forget this, because a good farrier is a blessing to have, make sure when he shows up your horses are caught, and ready to go. It is not his responsibility to train your horse, it is only his responsibility to do a great job of shoeing them.
